

جامعة الشرقية
A' SHARQIYAH UNIVERSITY

Setup

Functions

Student Reports

General Reports

Student:2212717-Hamdh Mohammed Hamdan Sultan Al Masuudi

PRINT

| Semester    | Date       | Remark                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Advisor     |
|-------------|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Spring 2025 | 24-04-2025 | Dear Hamdh,your absence rate has exceeded 5% of MDLS292 Histology and Cytology Lab. Please be advised that continued absences may result in academic penalties, including possible course deprivation. I encourage you to maintain regular attendance for the remainder of the semester to avoid any negative consequences to your academic standing. If you are experiencing circumstances that are affecting your ability to attend class, please visit me during office hours so we can discuss appropriate accommodations or solutions. | Einas Osman |